3. A loose surface, all weather road [B909] runs from Belchatow northward to Medlew. The same type of loose surface, all weather road [B909] runs from Belchatow eastward to Bogdanow. Both roads are over one lane in width and have a natural solid road foundation. The top layer is gravel surfaced with sand. The roads run over level terrain and are able to absorb heavy usage.

4. A number of loose surface, dry weather dirt roads [B935] run in the vicinity of Belchatow, Kacik, Suchcice and Dobiecic. In some sections certain roads are considered to be principal dirt roads and in some they are considered to be secondary dirt roads. However, the dry weather dirt roads are over one lane in width and occasionally are able to bear heavy usage. The roads have a natural foundation of dirt, clay and sand. Occasionally the farmers and villagers maintain the roads but on some occasions the state assigns work crews to maintain the dirt roads.
